2. Since no conclusions have been reached yet on the language development program, I orally briefed Mr. [REDACTED] on what PPS and Mr. [REDACTED] are doing on this subject. I told him also that PPS had been informally looking into "customer attitudes" in various aspects of the area program.

3. Mr. [REDACTED] advised that there will be forthcoming in the very near future a DD/S memorandum to all staff heads and office chiefs requesting them to survey and to "determine and identify" secretaries and other clerical personnel in grade of GS-8 and below who are willing to consider overseas jobs. These jobs cover not only just the exotic places or less desirable locations but also stations such as [REDACTED] 25X1A6a [REDACTED] etc. The possibility of overseas assignment should be talked over with the girls and they should be put at ease on such likely questions as placement upon their return, the kinds of stations to which they might be going, etc.
